

Solutions for ID Theft Protection Insurance

Industry-Leading Voluntary Benefits Coverage and Services

Identity thieves are the pickpockets of the 21st century—only the impact is far more severe and long-lasting. It's not just peoples' finances that are affected, their entire lives are negatively impacted, as they may not be able to pay their bills or obtain loans until the situation has been resolved. Repairing the damage takes an enormous amount of effort, time, and expertise. The average identity theft victim loses $6,000 and spends nearly two months trying to resolve the issue on their own.

As employers strive to expand their benefit offerings, Identity Theft Protection has grown in popularity as a way to attract and retain employees, as well as keep them more productive at work. Savings can quickly get depleted when assets are put in jeopardy by fraud and employers recognize that helping employees with financial well-being early in their careers may contribute to a more engaged work force. Employees value the importance of protecting their identity, with 43 percent saying they would opt to have Identity Theft Protection included in their benefits package.<sup>1</sup>
