Support for personal and professional life issues for associates and your immediate family members.

Confidential counseling and referral services, one-on-one sessions, online information, coaching and support services are offered for such things as dependent care issues, dealing with the stress of a major life change (even a positive one), such as having or adopting a child, getting married, moving or buying a home, or getting a promotion. Serious personal or professional concerns, such as general anxiety, depression, substance abuse, burnout, coping with illness, the loss of a loved one, relationship challenges, or resolving interpersonal conflicts.
